Eligibility

1. All entries must be published in English or French between January 1 and December 31, 2023.
2. Deadline for submissions is November 30, 2023.
3. A collection of essays by one author is eligible if the essays are on a single theme, and if the work in its entirety has not been reproduced elsewhere. A collection of essays by more than one author is not eligible.
4. A work by two co-authors is acceptable, provided the whole work is integrated and coherent.
5. Posthumously published works, pamphlets, monographs, reference books, conference papers and subsequent or revised editions of books are not eligible.
6. Books published outside Canada are eligible provided that the author is a Canadian citizen or Permanent Resident, that the book is published in English or French and that the book is available for sale in Canadian bookstores.
7. Shortlisted authors are required to attend an awards ceremony the following May and, if winners, address the audience at that time.
8. The rules for eligibility shall be interpreted and may be revised from time to time at the discretion of the Board of Governors of the Donner Canadian Foundation.

Selection Process

Each book submitted for consideration will be judged by a jury made up of six members who bring varied backgrounds and experience to the task.

The Submission Process

1. All entries must be submitted by the publisher. No other entries will be accepted.
2. Seven (7) copies of each title must be delivered to the Prize Manager by November 30, 2023. If an electronic version is available please email a copy, in addition to sending printed versions, to the Prize Manager at donnerprize@naylorandassociates.com. For titles published between November 30 and December 31, 2023, the publisher may submit bound galleys or manuscripts.
3. Each submission must include a publication or release date and a general overview of its contents.
4. The earliest possible submission of books is recommended.
5. Receipt of each candidate title will be acknowledged by the Prize Manager in a letter that will also set out the responsibilities of the publisher and the author should their title be shortlisted or chosen for the Prize.
